Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable by Manduley [5,648,916] in view of Rosenbaum et al [Rosenbaum 5,031,223].
5. As per claim 1, Manduley discloses a method utilizing a computer system that enables a recipient to inform a carrier of the manner in which the recipient would like the mail delivered, said method comprises the steps of:

depositing with the carrier physical mail containing the recipient's name and physical address and the sender's name and address [Manduley, the fast mail transmitted and received by the computers, col 2 lines 1-20];

capturing by electronic and optical means the name and physical address of the recipient, and the sender from the physical mail [Manduley, electronically scanned, col 2 lines 28];

translating the name and physical address of the recipient into an e-mail address [Manduley, the fast mail is scanned by scanner, col 2 lines 20-50; converting hard copy paper mail into electronic mail, col 3 lines 58-67];

However Manduley does not detail checking a postal address database and the recipient's email database;

notifying the recipient of the availability of the deposited physical mail; notifying the carrier of the manner in which the recipient would like the physical mail delivered; notifying the carrier that the sender wants the deposited physical mail to be delivered directly to the recipient or that the sender elects to permit the recipient to divert the physical mail; and if the sender elects to permit the recipient to divert the physical mail, delivering physical mail to the recipient in the manner specified by the recipient to the carrier.

In the same endeavor, Rosenbaum discloses a system and method for processing of scanned mail wherein the system (i.e. LAN server or carrier) interacts to the operator/user workstation to provide the alternative selections of address, name which divert the mail delivery [Rosenbaum, col 8 line 42-col 10 line 45]; including using the electronic bin /mass storage or database [Rosenbaum, Fig 1]; the volume of mail is directed to each receiving location [Rosenbaum, col 10 lines 1-45]; the user can select (i.e.: permit), check, match and insert the name, address between the knowledge base program (i.e.: a postal database) and operation work station (i.e.: user workstation memory/database) [Rosenbaum, col 11 lines 1-36]

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the technique of providing the operator/user selects and changes the mailing address as taught by Rosenbaum into the Manduley's apparatus in order to utilize the control of email delivery. Doing so would provide a more effective and comprehensive way to communicate with people either by email addresses or physical mailing addresses.

6. As per claim 2, Manduley-Rosenbaum disclose the sender places an indication on the mail specifying that the mail should not be diverted by the recipient [Rosenbaum, col 8 line 42-col 10 line 45].

7. As per claim 3, Manduley-Rosenbaum disclose charging the sender for placing an indication on the mail specifying that the mail should not be diverted by the recipient [Rosenbaum, col 8 line 42-col 10 line 45].

8. As per claim 4, Manduley-Rosenbaum disclose the sender places an indication on the mail specifying that the mail should be delivered only as specified by the sender [Rosenbaum, col 8 line 42-col 10 line 45].

9. As per claim 5, Manduley-Rosenbaum disclose charging the sender for placing an indication on the mail specifying that the mail should be delivered only as specified by the sender [Rosenbaum, col 8 line 42-col 10 line 45].

Art Unit: 2142

10. As per claim 6, Manduley-Rosenbaum disclose the recipient notifies a data center who notifies the carrier of the manner in which the recipient would like the mail delivered [Rosenbaum, col 8 line 42-col 10 line 45].

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
